

In Canada, we have no shortage of great ideas.
Will you have the skilled labour you need to make yours a reality?

Canada's construction industry is a major, multi-billion dollar industry. At the Construction Sector Council, we know the best way to keep it vital and growing is with accurate, timely information.

Our Labour Market Information (LMI) program helps the industry deal with human-resource challenges such as an aging workforce, the need for skills upgrading and worker mobility, and recruiting youth to the trades. Whether you are a contractor, labour group, owner, student, or representative from government, our LMI program can provide you with the information you need to make informed, strategic decisions.

LMI. Just one more great Canadian idea.
